

Willing to Cut Out Staff Chiefs

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird appears willing to adopt a blue-ribbon panel's recommendation to cut the Joint Chiefs of Staff out of military operations.

But Pentagon officials said Wednesday Laird is unlikely to act until he has consulted all uniformed service heads, civilian secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, and key members of Congress.

The defense chief also was described as unlikely to override any major congressional opposition to the plan.

The proposal was one of 113 recommendations made recently by the White House appointed panel that urged stronger civilian control over military affairs.

Laird is expected to adopt a substantial part of the panel's recommendations.

The proposal to create a powerful new civilian deputy secretary for operations and a special military staff under him could create a clash with the joint chiefs.

Some senior military men see the plan as a move to downgrade the chiefs, although the nation's top military leaders would retain their statutory functions as strategy advisors to the President and the secretary of defense and their roles as heads of the services.

The military operational responsibilities were given to the chiefs in 1958 under a directive by then Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, and presumably could be taken away again by Laird's order.

However, Laird—who is closely attuned to congressional sensibilities—is unlikely to override any congressional objections that might develop.

Senior members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees so far have reserved judgment.

In the past, Congress has strongly objected to anything which smacked of a single chief of staff.

Some observers in the Pentagon suggest the high-ranking general or admiral who would head the new military operations staff would, in effect, be a single chief of staff and might be more powerful than the present joint chiefs.

There is no assurance the chairman of the joint chiefs would also serve as head of new operations staff.

Homesite Loans Available

Another avenue of attack on the rural housing problems has been developed by the Farmers Home Administration, Harold Foster, Hempstead County Supervisor for the Department of Agriculture credit agency, announced today.

Under the program newly unveiled by Farmers Home Administrator James V. Smith, loans can now be made to local public agencies and private nonprofit organizations to buy and develop land as homesites for sale to rural families of low and moderate income.

FHA Supervisor Foster called the program "another step toward upgrading living conditions in our rural areas, where we find half of all the bad housing in the United States."

"In many rural communities," he added, "adequate homesites served by roads and utilities must be developed before modern housing can be supplied. This new program will enable rural communities to ease their problem of homesite development, either through their local public agencies or through private nonprofit organizations devoted to that purpose."

Ask Defense U.S. Interests in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — A majority of senators have signed a letter to President Nixon supporting "a clearly expressed policy on the part of the United States to protect and defend its interests" in the Middle East.

They said that course could deter the Soviet Union from risking a confrontation between the great powers as an outgrowth of the conflict between Israel and the Arab states.

The letter includes a reminder of earlier Senate urging that the United States sell Israel the 125 new jet warplanes she seeks, and a call for vigorous U.S. peace efforts.

British Stripper Is Only Trying to Cross Language Barrier

By RODNEY PINDER

Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Curvy Sandra Freeman takes off her clothes once a week to help foreign visitors learn English.

It's called educational theater, and the motto is, "We aim to entertain and to stimulate."

Sandra, a 24-year-old actress who calls herself Fifi for school hours, strips down to her black lace bra and panties as part of a British Broadcasting Corp. experiment.

She and other members of the English Teaching Theater Company take the stage of a 150-seat theater once a week to give a two-hour lesson in English to foreign visitors who pay 72 cents each. The curriculum plays to packed houses.

To the tune of "The Stripper," Sandra teasingly casts off one garment after another while Jeremy Harrison in mortar board and academic gown spells out the name of each piece of clothing on a blackboard.

"She is now taking off her hat .... She is now taking off her dress .... She is now taking off her stockings," he intones.

"The audiences are marvelous," says Sandra. "They often shout things to me while I am stripping, but it's all in good fun. There's nothing smutty about it."

"I was terribly nervous at

Alworth's Property Up for Sale

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Four lots and part of a fifth that had been mortgaged by former Arkansas Razorback football star Lance Alworth for security on a loan that is past due will be sold at auction to satisfy a judgment against him in a foreclosure suit.

The Twin City Bank of North Little Rock won a default judgment for $74,721.51 on July 9. Alworth was given five days to satisfy the judgment, or the property was to be sold. He has not satisfied the judgment against him.

The Pulaski County Chancery Court clerk's office has advertised for the sale at auction to be held Aug. 20.

Alworth was an All-American halfback with the Razorbacks and now plays for the San Diego Chargers and lives most of the year in San Diego.

Highway Dept. to Add to County Roads

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission Wednesday approved the addition of more than 27 miles of county roads to the state highway system.

Approved by the commission were:

— Nine miles of a county road, to be designated Arkansas 78, from the end of Arkansas 78 north of Wheatley in St. Francis County to the junction of Arkansas 306 near Hunter in Woodruff County.

— About 9.1 miles of a county road in White County from Arkansas 11 at Griffithville to Arkansas 36 at Kensett. The road is to be designated Arkansas 385.

— About 4.6 miles from U.S. 62 near Gassville in Baxter County to Buford. The road is to be designated Arkansas 126.

— About four miles in Franklin and Sebastian counties from the end of Arkansas 217 at Vesta to the junction of Arkansas 252 in Sebastian County, which will be designated Arkansas 217.

— And 0.52 miles of U.S. 67 to the present location of the highway.

Sgt. May Climb the Matterhorn

DOWNY, Calif. (AP) — During his 130-mile trek across Death Valley last week, Army Sgt. Jack Nelson, 34, passed through the lowest point in the Western Hemisphere. Now he says he's thinking about climbing to one of the world's highest places.

"Next year I think I'll go climbing," he said Monday, "probably the Matterhorn," whose 14,685 foot high peak rises majestically in the Swiss Alps and is always covered by snow.

77 US Die in Vietnam Last Week

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 77 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, 11 more than the week before.

It said the number of American combat dead in the past four weeks—278—was the lowest in four years.

Another 510 Americans were wounded in action last week, 109 less than the week before. This brought the total U.S. wounded for the June 28-July 25 period to 2,321.

The four-week death toll was the lowest since 273 Americans were killed between April 17 and May 14, 1966. The total wounded in those four weeks was 2,317, four less than in the past four weeks.

The drop in American casualties during July reflected a generally lower level of fighting. Except for occasional flareups, most action through the month was confined to patrol clashes and skirmishes between small units.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 323 government troops killed last week and 769 wounded, virtually the same as the previous week. The allied forces claimed 2,240 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, 67 per cent more than the 1,335 reported a week earlier.

Ground action continued at a low level in South Vietnam, with the U.S. Command reporting no major ground contacts and only "light and scattered" engagements. U.S. B52s flew 10 raids in the Mekong delta and west of Saigon along the Cambodian border. The big bombers dropped about 1,500 tons of bombs on enemy storage and staging areas.

In Phnom Penh, a Cambodian military spokesman claimed that air strikes last Friday north of Siem Reap killed 600 Communist soldiers and wounded another 200 near the ruins of Angkor Wat. But allied officers in Saigon were highly skeptical of the report, saying there was no record of American, South Vietnamese or Thai air strikes in that area on that date, and they thought it most unlikely that the minuscule Cambodian air force could have killed anything like that number.

The Cambodian spokesman said the casualty information came from villagers in the Angkor area. But Associated Press correspondent T. Jeff Williams was in the Siem Reap area for three days last weekend and heard nothing of any such air attack or casualties.

Also in Cambodia, a government force of four battalions was reported assembling at the base of Kiri Rom, awaiting the signal for an attempt to retake the plateau from which government forces were driven Wednesday after an 18-day battle. The local Cambodian commander was reported asking for a South Vietnamese task force to help him.

Army to Move Nerve Gas in South

By MIKE SHANAHAN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., said today the Army is planning to move a trainload of nerve gas through the South this summer and then dump it in the Atlantic Ocean.

He said he's been assured the Army has taken every precaution to insure safe disposal of the deadly "GB" gas, now obsolete and stored in liquid form at the Blue Grass Munitions Depot near Lexington, Ky.

The route of the train is to be announced by the Army at a congressional briefing today, he said. But officials in Tennessee said they understood the train was to travel through remote areas of Tennessee to Atlanta, Ga., before being routed on to Wilmington, N.C.

The gas is to be loaded onto a Navy vessel at Wilmington and towed 250 miles out to sea and sunk in 1,500 feet of water.

"I was told only a nuclear explosion could interrupt the train," Gallagher said.

The train will be preceded by another carrying a large crane, chemical experts and extensive fire-fighting equipment, he added.

Gallagher, chairman of a House subcommittee which urged the Army to move gas by rail only if it were the last possible means, said Pentagon officials had explored 12 alternate proposals. A special independent panel of seven scientists tried to find other means for a year, but could not, he said.

Mrs. Malone expressed concern for the shortage of nurses in Arkansas.

She said she would like to see the state give nursing students some type of financial assistance, perhaps in the area of scholarships, that would encourage more women to train.

The high cost for medical students is a deterrent for entering the field, she said.

For the most part, Mrs. Malone said she leaves politics to her husband. She and their two children, Bever, 14, and Jimmy, 12, have accompanied Malone to all the weekend political rallies.

She said that running for office was more fun than she anticipated. Malone's candidacy has changed their life style somewhat.

This year, Mrs. Malone does not have a garden and the Malone's Lonoke catfish farm is being run by hired help. She has also had to cut back on the number of hours she spends in nursing. Jimmy's snake collection is also being cared for by a friend.

Farm life is not new to Mrs. Malone. She grew up on a farm near Rogers.

She was introduced to her husband by a fellow nursing student. They lived in a small, two-room apartment in Little Rock before buying a minnow farm at Lonoke with Malone's father.

Mrs. Malone said she was not surprised that her husband had decided to run for governor because he had "grown up with politics" and likes it.

James Malone Sr. was defeated for governor by Ben Laney 24 years ago.

MRS. JOSEPH H. PURVIS

Miss Susan Jane Turner and Joseph Houston Purvis were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony at eight o'clock Saturday evening, July 25, in the First Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. McDowell Turner and Thomas Milburn Purvis and the late Mrs. Purvis.

The Rev. Gerald W. Trussell performed the double ring ceremony in which the couple recited their vows from memory. Miss Mary Catherine Browning and James Clyde Browning, cousins of the bride, lighted the pew candles. Two candle trees with white tapers and huckleberry were placed on the chancel. More greenery covered the pulpit and chancel rail.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Hendrix A. Spraggins, organist, presented a program of music including Romance-Beethoven, Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee-Gounod, Andante-Rheinberger, Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring-Bach, Exultate Deo-Williams, Cantillene-Rheinberger, Air-Bach, Andante Religioso-Mendelssohn, God Who Touchest Earth with Beauty-Lowden, The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden-Dykes, and O Perfect Love-Barnby.

She accompanied Thomas Milburn Purvis III, the groom's brother, who sang Eternal Life-Dungan, Prayer by St. Francis of Assisi.

David Bruce Chism, trumpeter, assisted in the processional, Trumpet Voluntary-Purcell, and the recessional, Wedding March-Mendelssohn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk-faced peau fashioned with an Empire bodice. The high neckline of English net was trimmed in scalloped re-embroidered Alencon lace heavily studded with seed pearls and sequins. The net sleeves, dotted with pearly lace motifs, ended in lily points over her hands. From the A-line skirt swept a full length detachable cathedral train edged in Alencon lace.

Matching lace outlined her silk illusion waist length mantilla. She wore her great-great grandmother's locket and carried a colonial bouquet of Golden Wave roses, fleur d'amour, baby's breath, and English ivy.

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Turner was her sister's honor attendant. Bridesmaids were Miss Jane Elizabeth Rausch of Little Rock, Mrs. William Lee Rogers of Conway, and Miss Ann Elizabeth Purvis, sister of the groom. The attendants wore maize silk gowns fashioned with scooped necklines and tiny cap sleeves with self bows and embroidery. Lace emphasized the high waistline in front and an inverted pleat with bow and lace was attached at the waist at the back. They wore self-bows in their hair and carried nosegays of Golden Wave roses, marguerite daisies and English ivy.

The candlelighter, Miss Browning, wore an identical gown and a bandeau of daisies in her hair.

Mr. Purvis was his son's best man. Groomsman were James Charles Smalley of Lafayette, Louisiana, William Watkins Christeson and John Herbert Belford III of Little Rock.

Ushers were Stephen Richard Berdis of Youngstown, O.; Frederick Alan Newitz of Midland, Pa.; Michael G. Prudente of Boston, Mass.; and William Joseph Funk of St. Louis, Mo.

The bride's mother wore a green silk dress and matching coat, trimmed in heavy lace. Her corsage was of Golden Wave roses.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall. Mrs. Richards Howard introduced the guests to the receiving line. Miss Joan Britton Turner of Memphis, cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's table where the bride's bouquet was placed in a silver tray, a wedding gift from the groom's godmother.

The serving table held an arrangement of Golden Wave roses and Majestic daisies in a silver compote and two three-branched silver candelabras with white candles. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature arrangement of roses and daisies.

Miss Linda Miller of Marianna and Miss Suzanne Harrell of Camden served the cake. Miss Melinda Alley of Benton and Mrs. Kenneth Cofer of Searcy presided at the punch bowl.

Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Henry Haynes, Mrs. Clyde U. Browning, Mrs. Douglas Drake, Mrs. Roy Allison, Mrs. Calvin Caldwell, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger, Mrs. Wallis Monroe, Mrs. Raymon Powell, Miss Betty Monroe, Miss Jeanne Pruden, Miss Debbie Connelly, Miss Betsy Morris.

Miss Anne Burnett of Wynne, Miss Marilyn Dietrich of Pine Bluff, Miss Melissa Moore of El Dorado, Miss Diane Hardin of Malvern, and Mrs. Paul Coates of Bossier City.

William Browning and Robert Browning, the bride's cousins, distributed the rice bags.

For going away the bride wore a brown and white linen dress and carried a yellow rose. After a short trip the couple will be at home in Shreveport where the groom is stationed at Barksdale

LETTERS To The Editor

This is your newspaper. Write to it. Address letters to: Editor The Star, P.O. Box 648, Hope, Ark. 71801.

All letters must be signed, with address, so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in which case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address.

Pen-names are permitted when a letter deals only with issues. Direct attacks upon public officials, however, must bear the writer's name for publication.

THANKS TO POLICE

Editor The Star: I address my letter to you because I feel that The Star is truly the voice of the people of Hope and Hempstead County—and in expressing my views on a certain subject I hope to voice the feelings of others.

The police force of Hope has been under some criticism of late because of the crime situation.

But, the crime has been solved—due to the shrewd minds of the men of our force, state and local combined. The Mafia is not moving in, it was just a band of thieves, who I hope will be dealt with accordingly.

This just goes to show one that the men who protect us can get the job done and still remember to cover their hearts with their hats as a funeral procession passes. I think this takes a great human being and our force is full of them. My hat is off to these men. Faithfully,

Film on Olympics Well Received

By GEORGE GEDDA
WASHINGTON (AP) — The American premiere of a Columbia Pictures film of the 1968 Olympiad in Mexico City was shown before a spellbound audience Wednesday night at the MacArthur Theater.

The slow-motion technique was in evidence throughout as the filmmakers tried to capture the agony of the participants in their quest for the gold, silver and bronze medals.

In order not to dilute the determination these athletes displayed, Columbia frequently did away with narration, music and crowd sounds, letting the participants tell the story with their facial expressions.

The black-tie audience, which included Secretary of State William P. Rogers, interrupted the proceedings with frequent applause and shouts of "fantastic, marvelous."

The film for the most part shied away, in traditional Olympic spirit, from injecting race and politics except to note at one point that all eight finalists in the 100-meter dash were black.

Another sequence showed, in silence, the black power salute raised by Americans John Carlos and Tommy Smith as they received their medals following the 200-meter dash.

Humor, very much a part of any Olympics, was not ignored. There were the two participants in the walkathon who took the wrong road for a few precious seconds before being directed back into the race.

And there was the underwater struggle during a polo match between Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union in which one overzealous participant lost his bathing trunks.

The film concluded with Columbia dwelling at length on a determined Tanzanian who, it said, represented the "Olympic ideal."

Struggling to finish the 26-mile marathon, the bandage on his injured leg in tatters, the young African made it to the finish well after nightfall in last place to the cheers of the few thousand fans who lingered on.

Aussies Are Favorites at Tourney

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With an opening round victory already in his pocket, third-seeded Ken Rosewall sat on the sidelines today as John Newcombe and Rod Laver, the favorites in the $25,000 Louisville Tennis Classic went through their paces.

Australian Rosewall, who has captured every major tennis title except Wimbledon, defeated Pierre Barthes of France 6-4, 6-2, Wednesday to move into the quarter-finals.

Top-seeded Newcombe and No. 2 seed Laver are making their first appearance today. Newcombe against Ray Moore of South Africa and Laver against Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y.

The 35-year-old Rosewall, a pro for 14 years now, has watched twice this year while fellow Aussies Newcombe and Laver went on to win major tournaments, both by defeating him in final matches.

A month ago he lost the Wimbledon title to Newcombe and two weeks later, saw the richest first prize ever offered in tennis, $35,000, slip away to Laver.

Rosewall could hold a slight advantage in that he's fresh from a victory in Cincinnati's Western Tournament, which uses the same type court as in this inaugural event. "I've played well on courts like these," he conceded.

Rosewall and No. 4 seed Tony Roche of Australia were the

Lifts Ban Against Veterans

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — It's hard to upstage the All-Star Football Game but the raging National Football League labor dispute is doing just that to Friday night's meeting between the pro champion Kansas City Chiefs and the top collegiate seniors of '69.

Only last week, it took a special dispensation from the embattled NFL owners and veteran players to permit the Chiefs to get ready for the Soldier Field Charity classic sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

And yesterday, pro football's bitter contract dispute was brought to Chicago with the NFL owners announcing here they were lifting their ban against veterans at training camps and the NFL Players' Association meeting here last night to map future strategy.

Meanwhile, coach Otto Graham's All-Stars and the Chiefs, arriving today from their Liberty, Mo., training base, tapered off training for the game which will be televised nationally via ABC beginning at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Graham has a 53-player squad, including 21 first-round picks in last January's pro football draft, hopeful of ending a six-year victory famine in the series in which the pro champions hold a 25-8-2 edge.

The Chiefs, who stunned the Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in the Super Bowl game, are listed as 10-point favorites despite the fact they practiced formally only since last Saturday. Graham has been working the All-Stars at Northwestern University since July 10.

However, the collegians have had only one hard scrimmage and, until last weekend, drilled with the uncertainty that the game ever would be played due to the NFL labor strife.

Graham's attack hinges on only two quarterbacks, Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Mike Phipps of Purdue. The No.

1 pro draft pick, quarterback Terry Bradshaw of Louisiana Tech, was sent back to his Pittsburgh Steeler camp because of a leg injury.

Graham flipped a coin to choose his starting quarterback and it came up for Shaw.

Although this All-Stars have won only two games in the last 14 years, Graham nearly pulled an upset last year against the Joe Namath-led New York Jets.

Quarterback Greg Cook of Cincinnati sparked the All-Stars to a 17-point third quarter and the Jets escaped with a 26-24 victory after leading 13-0 at halftime.

Strikeout Kings Out of Slumps

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bill Melton and Dean Chance, the strikeout kings, have finally broken out of their slumps—melton with a bang and Chance, as could be expected, with a bunt.

Melton, the hard-hitting Chicago outfielder who struck out 10 times in as many official at bats until he fled out Tuesday night, made contact Wednesday night with two hits that keyed the White Sox 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Chance, perhaps the worst hitter in baseball, also had two important hits that started the Cleveland Indians to a 9-8 squeaker over the Minnesota Twins.

Melton didn't conceal his joy over the end of his brief skid, but Chance shrugged off the finish of his seven-year slump.

"Why are you so surprised?" he asked. "It's not a big thing at all. Once before I got two hits in one game and I got those off the best pitcher in baseball—Sam McDowell."

That was when Chance pitched for the Los Angeles Angels; now McDowell is his teammate and he, too, remembered the embarrassing day.

"They were both bunts in 1963," he laughed, "and one of them was a hit only because no one was covering first base."

With both division leaders losing, only Detroit was able to take advantage with a 10-3 victory over Kansas City to pull within six games of the Orioles in the East. California was beaten by the New York Yankees 8-3 and remained seven back of the Twins in the West.

In other games, Boston stopped Oakland 4-1 and Washington nudged Milwaukee 4-2.

In the National League, Cincinnati tripped Pittsburgh 4-3; Atlanta outthumped St. Louis 9-7, and Montreal nipped San Diego 4-3 at night. The Chicago Cubs blasted Houston 9-2 and San Francisco halted the New York Mets 4-2 in the afternoon, while Los Angeles was rained out at Philadelphia.

Melton, who tied a record last Friday by fanning seven times in a doubleheader, and then added three more whiffs in his next game Tuesday night before hitting the ball, was a new man Wednesday night.

After popping out in the first inning and flying out in the fourth, he smashed a double to open the seventh, and scored the tying run on Duane Josephson's single.

Then in the ninth, he singled with one out, moved to third on Josephson's single, off loser Jim Hardin, 2-2, and scored the winning run on Bob Spence's sacrifice fly off reliever Pete Richter.

Chance, who had only one hit in 26 at bats this season—better than usual for him—stunned the Twins with a run-scoring single in the second inning after Harmon Killebrew's 32nd homer in the first for Minnesota. Loser Dave Boswell walked in another run.

Then in the third, Chance beat out a bunt with the bases loaded for a run, and Vada Pinson followed with the seventh grand slam homer of his career.

The Indians built a 9-1 lead when Graig Nettles hit his 16th homer in the fourth and Buddy Bradford doubled in the fifth for what turned out to be the decisive run.

Chance, 6-5, only recently rescued from the bullpen, gave up Tony Oliva's 16th homer in the sixth and then left after walking the leadoff man in the eighth, and it took four pitchers in the ninth to finally stop the Twins with three runs in and the tying run on third base with two out.

Detroit took advantage of Kansas City boo boos for six unearned runs in the fifth inning—two of them on Don Wert's homer—and Mickey Stanley

Chiefs in Chicago for All-Star Game

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — The added two solo shots.

With two out and two on in the fifth, outfielder Lou Piniella appeared to lose a fly ball in the lights and two runs scored on the two-base error. Then center fielder Amos Otis seemed to misjudge Bill Freehan's liner and it went for a two-run triple. Then Wert celebrated his 32nd birthday.

Horace Clarke singled four times and scored three runs, Roy White singled three times and drove in one run and scored one and Thurman Munson singled twice and had one RBI and one run scored for the Yankees, who took advantage of three California errors to build a 6-0 lead. The loss was the seventh in eight games for the slumping Angels as the Yankees swept the three-game series.

Ray Culp, 11-9, turned in the best pitching performance of the day, a five-hitter with 12 strikeouts, as he outpitched Oakland's Diego Segui, 6-7, who gave six hits in eight innings. George Thomas doubled in Boston's first two runs and singled in another in a two-run ninth as the Red Sox ended Oakland's seven-game winning streak.

Frank Howard's 29th homer with a man on in the fifth inning put Washington ahead 2-0, and Mike Epstein's leadoff blast in the eighth broke a 2-2 deadlock, ending Lew Krausse's personal six-game winning string. Dick Bosman, 10-8, who yielded only four hits before leaving for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, received credit for the victory.

Kansas City Chiefs left their training camp today and moved to Chicago for Friday night's scrap with the College All-Stars—not knowing whether they will return here after the game.

Coach Hank Stram, outwardly unruffled because Wednesday's workout may be the last for the world champions for no telling how long, said, "we've done extremely well in preparation in five days—all we could possibly do in that amount of time."

"Sure, we're behind in our work. We can't kid ourselves. We had to watch letting them go flat. You have to avoid the temptation to try to do too many things."

The Chiefs' veterans will break camp immediately after Friday night's game if there has been no settlement in the contract dispute between the National Football League Players Association and the 26 club owners.

Kansas City was granted permission to start work last Saturday and play the All-Stars. Veterans of the other 25 teams still have not reported to camp.

The owners broke off negotiations with the players association Tuesday in Philadelphia and lifted the training camp lockout they imposed two weeks ago on the veterans.

"The Chiefs' veterans will break training camp 100 per cent after the game if the dispute has not been settled," said Jim Tyrer, Kansas City player representative, a co-captain and offensive tackle. "That was what they voted to do when they were given permission to come to camp. The vote was unanimous both ways — to play the game and break camp immediately afterward if there was no settlement."

Stram has little to say about the contract dispute except that if the Chiefs have to break camp and return later "it will be like preparing for two seasons. I

Can Ben Hogan Win Tourney?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Can Ben Hogan win it?

"Don't ever count the man out," South Africa's Gary Player warned today. "I'd have to say the odds are against it—with Ben's age, the suffocating heat, the hills on the course."

"But Ben Hogan still has a marvelous swing. He is the most knowledgeable golfer I have ever known. He is always thinking, calculating. If the weather turns cool, I think you have to consider him a threat. He's phenomenal."

Player is one of the prime favorites, along with Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer—in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic, starting today over the Westchester Country Club course.

Hogan's last practice round was played with Player over the 6,700-yard, par 72 West course Tuesday. Player shot a 64, Hogan a 69.

"Ben's swing is still something to see," the little South African said. "It is so smooth and flawless. He always has been Thursday, July 30, 1970 something of an idol to me. I think his chances will depend entirely on how well he can hold up."

Hogan, 58, winner of four U.S. Opens and every major professional crown, making one of his rare tournament experiences, shrugs off his chances.

"I'm not sharp enough yet," he said, suggesting that his problem lies more in his lack of tough head-to-head competition rather than in his advancing age or any physical ailments.

"My shoulder is fine—I don't feel a twinge of pain in it," he said. "I still have to favor my left knee a bit, but I feel strong. I've lost some weight. I'm hitting the ball all right. I'm just not tournament sharp."

The heat this week has been oppressive. The course, with its blue grass fairways and bent greens, presents a challenge for which Hogan feels he is not thoroughly equipped.

"I haven't played in the East in years," he said. "I am accustomed to Bermuda fairways where the ball sits up. I have to dig it out here and the Westchester course is more hilly and demanding than I had seemed to remember."

The visit to this hot bed of golf already has been rewarding to the Fort Worth shotnaster, no matter how he fares in the tournament.

On Wednesday, the golf world paid him the supreme tribute of having a Hogan portrait unveiled at Golf House, the home of the U.S. Golf Association, and placed over the fireplace in the library to hang alongside portraits of Walter Hagen, Bob Jones, Gene Sarazen and other greats.

At the ceremonies, Hogan was asked what he thought of the many new young players on the tour and whether he believed they might be spoiled by the wealth of prizes for which they are competing.

Braves 9-7 Over St. Louis

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Aaron is taking the high road; Carl Morton and Wayne Granger the low ... and it's a good bet all three will get where they're going.

Aaron hammered a pair of chin-high fast balls over the Atlanta Stadium fences Wednesday night, knocking in five runs and leading the Braves to a 9-7 comeback victory over St. Louis.

Morton, Montreal's precocious pitching ace, kept the ball down—and inside little Jarry Park—while hurling the Expos past San Diego 4-3 for his 14th victory of the season.

Granger, Cincinnati's gifted relief specialist, registered his 24th save of the year by tossing double play balls in the eighth and ninth innings as the Reds nipped Pittsburgh 4-3.

Bobby Bonds drove in three runs with two homers as San Francisco trimmed the New York Mets 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs slugged Houston 9-2 in National League day games. Los Angeles' night game at Philadelphia was rained out.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox ambushed Baltimore 2-1; Cleveland outlasted Minnesota 9-8; Washington topped Milwaukee 4-2; Detroit ripped Kansas City 10-3; Boston trimmed Oakland 4-1 and the New York Yankees blasted California 8-3.

Aaron's second homer of the game and his 28th of the year produced the last three of five Atlanta runs in the seventh inning, bringing the Braves back from a 6-4 deficit. He also drilled a two-run homer in the third and needs 18 to reach the 600 career mark surpassed by only two sluggers—Babe Ruth and Willie Mays.

Hoyt Wilhelm came out of the Braves' bullpen in the ninth to fan Richie Allen for the final out, stranding the tying runs on the bases. Allen and pinch-hitter Joe Hagge homered for the Cardinals.

Morton, a one-time outfielder, became the second rookie to win 14. Cincinnati's Wayne Simpson is the other—by checking the Padres on five hits. Rusty Staub, hitless in 12 previous at-bats, provided the margin with a fifth-inning homer.

Granger, who picked up 27 saves last year while setting a major league record of 90 mound appearances, preserved

Gary Nolan's 14th victory in 18 decisions after Pete Rose sent the Reds ahead in the sixth with a two-run single.

The slender sidearm replaced Clay Carroll with one out and two on.

Manny Sanguillen a double play pitch. Then he got Dave Cash to bounce into a game-ending double play after ninth-inning singles by Gene Alley and Bill Mazeroski.

Despite the loss, the Pirates remained a game ahead of second-place New York in the East Division race, thanks to the timely hitting of San Francisco's Bonds.

After a one-hour, 42-minute rain delay in the fifth, Bonds, who had a bases-empty homer off Met starter Jerry Koosman earlier, slammed a two-run homer off reliever Rich Folkers to send the Giants ahead 3-2. Don McMahon blanked the Mets over the last three innings in relief of winner Lee Pittlock.

Billy Williams, Johnny Callison and Randy Hundley homered in a six-run first-inning burst that sent the Cubs and left-hander Ken Holtzman breezing past the Astros. Holtzman scattered eight hits, including a homer by Doug Rader, to snap Houston's winning string at three games.

Cubs Steal Six Bases: NL High

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs stole six bases — National League high for the season — off the Houston Astros, and also showed some theft by picking up Joe Pepitone reportedly for the $20,000 waiver tag.

The 29-year-old Pepitone, who will join the pennant-minded Cubs in Cincinnati Friday night, was suspended a week ago by the Astros after leaving the club and going home to New York.

Earlier he had been fined $250 for missing practices. And last year he twice was fined by the New York Yankees for being AWOL.

The Yankees traded him to Houston last December for Curt Bleaf.

Joe batted .251 and hit 14 homers in between various squabbles with the Astros. He had not played since being hit on the elbow with a pitch July 9.

There was more talk about Joe than about the Cubs' 9-2 blistering of the Astros Wednesday.

Even Houston Manager Harry Walker predicted that Joe "will put his problems behind him and bust his fanny with a change of clubs."

"I'll bet he hits 15 more homers before the season is over and will really bear down," Walker said.

Leo Durocher was glad to welcome Joe aboard.

"I don't worry about any problems he had with another club," he said. "All I know he is a helluva player and he will be in center field for us at Cincinnati."

Dixie 500
Purse is $102,000

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta International Raceway officials have deposited the purse for Sunday's Dixie 500 here, clearing the way for qualifying runs for the race.

NASCAR President Bill France said Wednesday night he had received certified checks for the $102,000 purse from officials and added, "We (NASCAR) are calling all the drivers and advising them that the track will open for practice Thursday."

Time trials, originally scheduled to begin today, will begin Friday. Twenty-eight of the 40 berths will be filled Friday and the remainder Saturday.

The money was put up by a group headed by raceway President Jack Black. The raceway is owned by American Raceways, Inc., headed by Larry LoPatin.

LoPatin and his associates are meeting with officials of Diversified Financial Services in Detroit in an attempt to straighten out financial difficulties.

France, by accepting the money, recognized Black's group as promoters of the race. LoPatin, however, has not relinquished his authorities and a spokesman for American Raceways said legal action may be taken against France and NASCAR.

NFL-Owners Dispute Continues

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Like responding to the bugle call for a last-ditch battle, veteran National Football League players grouped in Chicago throughout Wednesday night in a show of strength against club owners in their bitter pension dispute that now threatens the game's structure.

A spokesman for the NFL Players' Association said that nearly 100 players had arrived by midnight.

The motel for the gathering, conveniently adjacent to O'Hare International Airport, reported that more players were expected and rooms were being set aside.

It was a chain reaction to owners who announced they would unlock their training camps and invited "any players willing to report" by 6 p.m. local time today.

It was a move obviously aimed at finding out if any veterans would defy the NFLPA and report, thus making a wedge that could lead to fulfillment of the preseason schedule of games starting with the Cleveland Browns at the Los Angeles Rams a week from Friday.

However, as time begins to run out solidification against the owners apparently continued. By midnight, players' spokesmen from the Browns, Chicago Bears, New Orleans Saints and Kansas City Chiefs were among those definitely declaring they would not pass through the unlocked training camp doors.

The world champion Chiefs were unique in the situation. They were granted a week to prepare in camp for the All-Star game in Soldier Field Friday night.

The game is a charity event sponsored by the Chicago Tribune which has netted some $11 million since its inception in 1934.

Unless the dispute is settled the Chiefs will blow camp after the game.

All player representatives except Jim Tyrer of the Chiefs were at the overnight meetings while the other players sat in. Tyrer, from the Liberty, Mo., training camp said that "the players are prepared to sacrifice the entire exhibition season if necessary."

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Ten teams are involved in games next week and all 26 the following week.

The nub of the squabble is the demand by players for the owners to boost their four-year $18 million pension contribution offer. The NFLPA is asking for $26 million.

Sharpening the players look at their pension demands was the death from cancer in June of the Chicago Bears' Brian Piccolo. His family, although receiving insurance benefits, got nothing from the pension fund.

A Piccolo benefit scrimmage between the Bears and the St. Louis Cardinals scheduled for Saturday in Rensselaer, Ind., has been postponed until further arrangements can be made.

Whether the players arriving in Chicago were coming in on their own expense was not known. Mal Kennedy, business manager of the NFLPA, estimated that some $150,000 already has been spent by the group during contract negotiations. He tabbed this amount as administration costs.

Meanwhile, the NFLPA said it was "shocked" by the owners action Wednesday to open training camps to veterans who wish to report. Rookies only have been in organized practices all along.

"We were shocked," a players spokesman said Wednesday night, "that the owners did not notify the NFLPA of their decision and instead chose to go direct to the players."

"It could mean the splitting of teams and we are meeting to prevent just that," he said. "We are confident that all NFL players will support the association and we will do all within our power to resolve the dispute in accordance with the players' wishes."

"But all players should be aware of the fact," the spokesman continued, "that they cannot be penalized or fined for not reporting to camp, and that their right to strike and their standard players contract with respective clubs are protected by federal law."

Owners originally were scheduled to meet in Chicago today, but George Halas of the Bears, president of the National Conference, said that no such session will be held. He indicated they may get together sometime after the All-Star game.

Bare Salvages 5-1 Victory for Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas righthander Ray Bare came within one out of a shutout Wednesday night but no one complained when he didn't make it. He salvaged a 5-1 victory over San Antonio, the first complete game by an Arkansas pitcher in 17 days and only their fourth win in their last four series.

Bill Stein figured in all five runs, launching a two-run first inning with a double and finishing up by driving in two runs in the eighth with a two-bagger off the rightfield wall.

Bare scattered 10 singles. In other league action, Shreveport swept a double-header from Memphis, 6-4 and 6-1. Amarillo defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 4-3 and El Paso edged Albuquerque 3-2 in 11 innings.

ASU's Hill Wins Hurdles in Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Thomas Hill of Arkansas State University won the 110 meter hurdles with a time of 13.6 at the International Track and Field Meet here Wednesday night.

Hill's time was a tenth of a second better than the previous stadium record held since 1958 by Martin Lauer of West Germany.

A crowd of about 14,000 persons was on hand as the United States won eight events at the meet.

1971 Ladies Tournament Richest Ever

ATLANTA (AP) — The richest tournament in ladies' professional golf history will be held early in 1971 at Las Vegas, Nev., the Ladies Professional Golf Association announced today.

The tournament will offer a purse in excess of $50,000, E.M. "Bud" Erickson, LPGA executive director, said.

The exact date will be announced later, Erickson said.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Volleyball was developed as a game by William G. Morgan in 1895. The World Almanac recalls: Morgan was a physical director at the Young Men's Christian Association in Holyoke, Mass. Initially the game was called mintonette and was played with a basketball bladder struck over a rope.

The word kibitzer is a direct borrowing from Yiddish, which, in turn, took it from the German kiezeln, meaning a meddling on-looker.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Sunshine Is a Blessing With Several Drawbacks

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Sunshine, like most good things, is a mixed blessing. Daily exposure will give you a tan but it also carries a time bomb in the form of wrinkles and skin cancer.

The cancer is readily curable but the premature aging of the skin is not. It may, of course, be concealed by a face-lifting operation.

In this respect, Negroes are in a favored position. Their skin pigment protects them from the harmful effects of the sun and, as a result, they usually look much younger than they are.

For further proof you need only compare the skin of your face or the back of your hand with that of your lower abdomen or back. In even the elderly, the latter is usually as healthy as a youngster's.

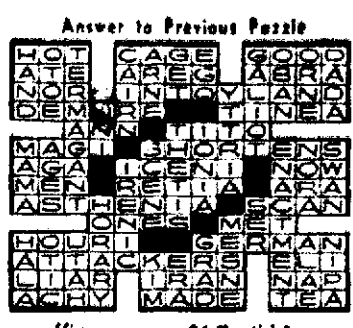

In a recent study, Dr. A. M. Kligman found that the damaging effects of sunlight begin early in life and are often severe by the age of 20. The skin of the ears and cheeks showed the greatest changes. The sun's rays are most damaging between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Dr. Kligman advises all persons who must work in direct sunlight—sailors, farmers and sports participants—to shield the exposed areas with appropriate clothing or the application of cosmetic sunscreens, especially the kinds that contain para-aminobenzoic acid or its esters. These preparations not only give immediate protection but also resist sweating and bathing.

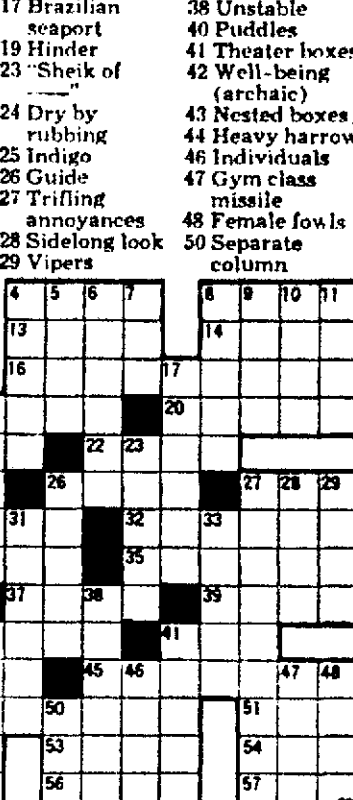

Q—What effect does sunbathing have on one's hair?
A—It makes the hair brittle unless it is naturally very oily.

Q—I'm so nervous that any noise scares me. As a result, I sometimes bite my tongue or lips. How can I prevent this?
A—Yours is an extreme case. A short course of a tranquilizer should be given while your doctor determines the cause of your tension. An overactive thyroid, emotional immaturity, low blood sugar and severe asthma are possible causes.

Q—I read an article that said the virus of serum hepatitis or catarrhal jaundice, transmitted through hypodermic needles, is highly resistant to ordinary methods of sterilization. Would an autoclave destroy it?
A—Autoclaving (applying steam under pressure) or

O'Brien Has Formula for Democrats

By BILL NEIKIRK Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien told party reformers today the way to win the youth vote is to strive for peace, focus on pressing domestic issues, and avoid another convention like 1968.

"In simplest terms," O'Brien said of the 1968 convention in Chicago, "we can pledge that we will do everything we can, as a party, to see that it never happens again."

I appreciate their liberal stand on most things and I'm not surprised they would want to try pot, but I'm extremely shocked and disappointed that they actually did.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

EVEN RINKY DINK COURSES LEAD TO UNDERSTANDING Dear Helen

Several years ago, I was like the girl who signed herself "The Two of Me." I, too, had a good life, fine parents, and never had to work hard for grades — or perhaps I was so conditioned to the grind I didn't notice it. Then, half-way through high school it hit me: What was the good of these rinky-dink college prep courses? Where was I going, and was it worth the bother? Nothing seemed to be getting anywhere. nothing seemed relevant to my dreams, and therefore my dreams too seemed irrelevant. I almost destroyed my parents when I took an overdose of sleeping pills. Maybe that was the turning point. I discovered I didn't want to die.

Now I've finished my second year at college and have taken all the "required courses," which are actually extensions of those "solid" bores taught in high school. Finally I've realized that it's not the subject that is the most important part of the course, but the fact that the subject is used as a stimulus. It teaches a student to think, to reason things out, to make decisions. Education is not only a process of teaching facts, but it's also the development of an individual's ability to assimilate these and future facts and transform them into rational concepts. If formal education is as much of a failure as Tom thinks, how then she explain all the bright, critical, involved, socially conscious youths of America? SOMETHING turned them on. The unstimulated don't protest! —T.M.

Dear T.: Right. Education (even those "rinky-dink courses") activates the brain, which churns up thought, which distills questioning, which brings the aware student full circle to, "Why can't education — and The System — be a lot better than it is?" —H.

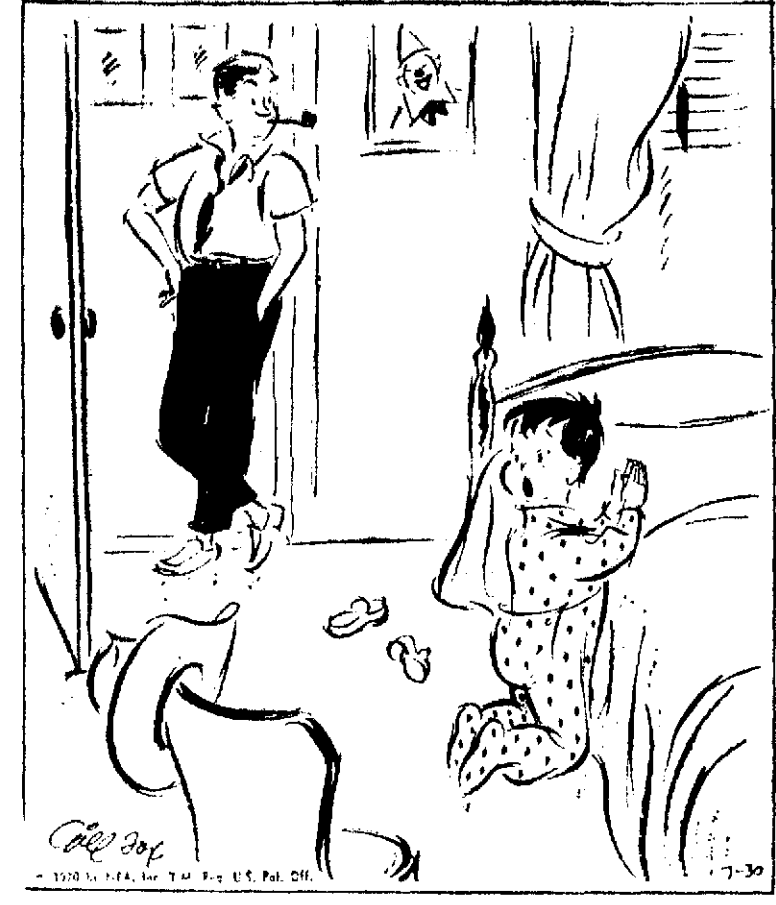

Dear Helen: I wonder if my problem is as uncommon as many people believe? A few days ago I learned that my folks have smoked grass. I heard Dad talking about it. We've always had a close relationship and have been honest with each other. I've never smoked myself, as I thought they were against it.

I appreciate their liberal stand on most things and I'm not surprised they would want to try pot, but I'm extremely shocked and disappointed that they actually did.

Yes, other kids have this problem. I hope they'll write in and tell me how to face it. — DISILLUSIONED Dear Dis:

Uniform Type
—Finally:
Police Triumph

Believe it or not but the missing 9-point film strip for one of our two computerized phototypesetters came in by airmail from Boston Wednesday morning, ending the mixed-type difficulty which was giving us a disreputable look.

We had been using 9-point from one machine and 8½-point from the other, being not only different sizes but different type faces. From here on, however, all text lines in the newspaper should be uniform—except of course for some long-running Classified ads and departmental headings, which will be reset on the new photo machines as soon as our staff can get around to it.

When vacations are over we plan to hold a newspaper open house and show the public the unbelievable speed and silence of computerized typesetting.

Hope city police and their companion law-enforcement agencies are due congratulations for yesterday's breakup of a burglary gang that figured in 36 local robberies in recent months.

You wonder at the high crime incidence in these relatively prosperous times when there are more jobs than people willing to fill them. But there is no explaining organized crime. It's simply a way of life that some find more attractive than making a legitimate living.

More attractive, that is, until the police catch up with them—which, fortunately, happened yesterday.

Wholesale Prices Make Big Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices have posted the biggest jump this month since January, due mostly to a sharp hike in the costs of food, the government reports.

The Labor Department said Wednesday the preliminary entry for July represented a boost of one-half of one per cent in the Wholesale Price Index.

That is 3.8 per cent above the figure of a year ago, and the biggest gain for any month this year since the four-fifths of one per cent rise in January.

At the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., George P. Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget noted that food prices ordinarily take a seasonal rise in July and reasserted his belief that anti-inflation programs have begun to work.

Big Judgment on British Drugs

LONDON (AP) — A British high court approved today damages of $1.16 million for 28 children described as deformed at birth by the drug thalidomide.

The sum, to be paid by Distillers Co. Ltd., which distributed the drug in Britain under license from Germany, represents 40 per cent of the sum attorneys for the children and attorneys for the company agreed would be full liability.

The high court now has approved settlements in 48 cases for total damages of $2.27 million. Eleven more original claims are scheduled to be disposed of this fall and 250 other claims are pending.

Desmond Ackner, the children's attorney, said negotiations are under way with Distillers to set up a trust fund for the claims pending, to save time in court.

New Trial for Huey P. Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court has set the stage for a new manslaughter trial for Huey P. Newton, cofounder of the Black Panther party.

Newton, 28, has been behind bars since John Frey, an Oakland policeman, was killed Oct. 28, 1967. He has said that he continues to direct Panther policy through visitors he receives at the California Men's Colony prison at San Luis Obispo.

1970 Census 205 Million for U.S.A.

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new statistical mural of a changing nation is emerging as the Census Bureau forges ahead in its count of an estimated 205 million people.

So far, the Bureau said Wednesday, 181,369,297 have been officially counted, but that figure is updated every day as more local offices close and report their totals to Washington.

Forty-two states are complete, at least in preliminary form, and five report fewer people than they did 10 years ago when the last Census was taken.

The major change, however, is in the cities. Almost every report documents the flight of the population from the central cities to the suburbs.

Of the 44 areas reported so far, 18 central cities actually lost population, and most of the other 26 gained less than their surrounding suburbs.

Most major cities and the largest of the states, except Texas, have not yet been completed. In New York City, for example, the bureau had difficulty finding enough enumerators to contact people who had not returned their forms by mail.

Newark Mayor Kenneth Gibson went from door to door accompanied by reporters and photographers to dramatize the importance of the Census.

Of the completed states, population declines were shown in Mississippi, North Dakota, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wyoming.

St. Louis is the largest city for which preliminary figures are available, and it showed a decline to 608,078 from 750,028.

Other large cities showing declines in the central city but increases in the suburbs are Milwaukee, Wis.; Birmingham, Ala.; and Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.

The Census figures are important to both cities and states because they determine the number of congressmen each state gets as well as the outlines of congressional districts. In addition, they influence the pattern of federal aid in a myriad of programs.

Those Who Say They Don't Care About Status Are Kidding

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Is your status showing? Some people pretend that they don't care about their status, but they are only kidding themselves.

A man without status in America today is like a turtle without a shell. He has no more social standing than a pelican at a convention of peacocks.

It isn't always easy to tell whether your own status is increasing or waning. However, you can be pretty sure your prestige rating is pretty high if:

You and the golf pro at your country club call each other by your first names.

The board of directors of your firm has asked you to sit for an oil portrait to be hung in the board room as an inspiration to them.

You now have three secretaries—two to look at and one homely one to do the work.

The U.S. Mint is considering putting your profile on a coin, and the U.S. Post Office has asked permission to issue a stamp celebrating a few of your minor achievements.

Your wife wouldn't dare address you any longer by a term more intimate than "mister."

You now have an English but-

May Send Postal Reform Bill to Nixon Rain Thins Smog Over New York

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a skirmish over who gets the last word on the price of stamps, Congress is close to sending a sweeping reform of the mail service to President Nixon.

House and Senate conferees tentatively ironed out their differences Wednesday on the bill, which would turn the post office into an independent, self-supporting, corporate-like agency and retroactively boost mailmen's pay eight per cent.

Formal conference approval was expected quickly, clearing the way for final passage by each house within a week. The measure has been the subject of a year-and-one-half struggle between the White House and Congress.

The only apparent stumbling block was a challenge, expected to develop on the House floor, on a compromise provision that eliminates Congress' 181-year prerogative to approve increases in mail rates.

The agreement brought no advance exuberance from Postmaster General Winton M. Blount.

He said he wants to see first how much control it gives the new postal services over its finances, and the extent of "special benefits to selected groups at the expense of the taxpayer."

Lindsay's action was unusual in that it was not preceded by the Weather Bureau's issuing a warning of high air pollution potential.

No Relief From Heat in Sight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas weather has returned to normal with typical July days when temperatures often climbing near the 100 mark. Little relief from the muggy temperatures is in sight before the weekend.

A slight chance of scattered thundershowers is forecast for Saturday.

Temperatures reached the 100-degree mark Wednesday in Arkansas for the first time in several days. Fort Smith recorded the high of 102.

Drier and warmer air flowing across the state is responsible for the decreased thundershower activity that had dumped heavy rains on parts of the state earlier in the week.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 102 at Fort Smith to 92 at Harrison.

Overnight lows were 71 at Fayetteville, 75 at Harrison, 75 at Jonesboro, 71 at Pine Bluff, 75 at Texarkana, 73 at El Dorado, 76 at Memphis, 71 at Little Rock and 71 at Fort Smith.

State Moves to Enforce Trade Quotas Blocked by Vote Rights Veto Threat

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A special meeting of the state Board of Election Commissioners has been called for next Tuesday to consider action toward implementing the 1970 extension of the federal Voting Rights Act.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, who called for the meeting, said he would recommend that the board:

—Consider what legislation, if any, would be necessary or useful to carry out the intent of the act.

—Work out methods to register for voting citizens above the age of 18 with registration commencing soon after this year's general election.

—Ask county boards of election commissioners to accept provisions reducing the voting age to 18 pending a settlement of whether the section is constitutional.

Last week, Rockefeller asked Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell to report on how the state could implement the act, but Purcell has not replied.

Rockefeller said he hoped the attorney general would be in a position to report the findings of his research in state law when the state board meets.

The governor also said he would ask Purcell specifically to advise the board of any state legislation that would be needed to carry out the act.

U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell inaugurated the inquiry by asking Rockefeller in a letter earlier this month to consult other state officials and determine what steps Arkansas would take in connection with congressional action.

The act, in Title III, lowers to 18 years the minimum voting age, but the Arkansas Constitution sets a voting age minimum of 21 years.

The federal act takes effect Jan. 1, 1971, if it survives a court test of its constitutionality.

Rockefeller said he believed it proper to assume that the section lowering the voting age in all sections is constitutional until declared otherwise by the courts, although he personally doubts the constitutionality of the act.

The governor said in a letter to Mitchell that the state Constitution sets residency requirements in voting in Arkansas and that a conflict may exist with the voting rights act provision eliminating residency requirements in the presidential elections.

The governor asked Mitchell to offer additional remarks that might clarify the problem.

40 Die in Tehran 'Quake

TEHRAN (AP) — At least 40 villagers were killed and more than 70 injured today when a series of strong earthquakes shook an area of about 20,000 square miles near the Soviet border, first reports from the region said.

There was heavy damage to bridges and telephone lines, and the final toll will not be known for some time. But the Red Lion and Sun, Iran's equivalent of the Red Cross, said the region is thinly populated and a report that several thousand were killed was "inaccurate and unreliable."

An official of the Red Lion and Sun said many of the villagers live in round, dome-shaped huts with straw roofs, a type of construction that would reduce the casualties.

The Tehran Geophysics Institute said the quake registered 6 on a scale of 10, a force which one source said had proved devastating in past quakes. But the source said the quakes hit at a time—5:03 a.m.—when most villagers were probably already at work in their fields, and this may have reduced the number of casualties.

Guerrillas Try Wrecking Mideast Pact

TEL AVIV (AP) — Sources in Tel Aviv said today the Palestinian guerrillas are planning heavy strikes against Israel from Jordan and Lebanon in an effort to prompt Israeli counterattacks and undermine prospects for peace.

The sources said there has been an escalation in guerrilla activity along the Jordanian and Lebanese frontiers since Egypt accepted the U.S. cease-fire proposal a week ago. The guerrillas have rejected the plan, condemned Egypt for accepting it, and have vowed to continue fighting.

The Israelis said guerrillas from Lebanon set off explosives Wednesday night under a children's dormitory in an Israeli settlement in northern Galilee near the Lebanese border. A dozen children were sleeping in the building but there were no casualties, the sources said. It was the first reported guerrilla penetration of a settlement on the Lebanese border in six months.

Military spokesmen also reported that an Arab infiltrator was killed Wednesday night in a clash with Israeli troops near the Damriya bridge over the Jordan River. No Israeli casualties were reported.

Israeli and Egyptian artillery exchanged "extremely intense" fire today along the entire 100-mile length of the Suez Canal, Israel reported. Two Israeli soldiers were reported wounded. A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the Egyptians opened fire first.

In the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, guerrillas blasted an electric power pylon Wednesday night, blacking out street lights in a refugee camp.

Iraq's pledge that its 10,000 troops in Jordan will support the Palestinian guerrillas in their opposition to the U.S. cease-fire proposal was described by Israeli sources today as "of little practical significance."

Israeli officials refused comment on the announcement from Baghdad that the Iraqi contingent in Jordan had been put under the guerrilla command and that Iraq would thwart the American proposal even if it meant an Arab civil war.

Suddenly, she said, Manson began directing her back through Los Angeles and "he seemed to know where he was going." She said they wound up at the home of an acquaintance of Mrs. Kasabian and she asked Manson: "Charlie, you're not going to that house, are you?"

"He said no, I'm going next door," Mrs. Kasabian testified.

The home next door, the state says, belonged to the LaBiancas.

Manson, she said, left the car and returned minutes later. "I heard him say there were a man and a woman up at the house and that he had told them not to be afraid, that he wasn't going to hurt them."

The state contends that Manson tied up the victims, then left his followers behind to kill them.

Asks United Protest on Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — All Americans—regardless of their views about the Vietnam war—should join in a condemnation of Hanoi's treatment of U.S. prisoners of war, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said today.

"Surely Americans, divided as they are on the war itself, can unite on the prisoner problem and raise their voices as one in a demand that North Vietnam abide by the rule to which it has agreed," he said.

"If only a portion of the effort that some Americans have devoted to protesting the war had been devoted to protesting Hanoi's treatment of prisoners, some progress might have been made toward helping these men," Byrd added.

Byrd's remarks were prepared for delivery in the Senate. Americans held in North Vietnam cannot be allowed to become the forgotten men of the war, Byrd said in urging increased U.S. efforts to interest Hanoi and Saigon in negotiating the exchange of prisoners.

Three former Henderson Reddies and one returning senior have been named to the football All-AIC Team of the Sixties in Dave Campbell's "Arkansas Football" magazine.

The returning senior is Stan Paris of Hope, elected as one of the Reddie Captains for this season. Parris, at 6-4 and 190 pounds, is considered by many to be the best defensive back ever to play in the AIC. "A dedicated athlete in every way, Stan has that desire to excel that we expect of Reddie athletes both on and off the field," said Reddie head coach Clyde Berry.

"With his credentials, Parris is one of the biggest pro prospects that has ever played in the AIC ranks," Berry added. Stan has been named to the All-AIC team for the past three seasons and has led the Reddies in interceptions during the same period. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Parris.

Says Manson Sought More to Murder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson was dissatisfied by the "messy" killings of actress Sharon Tate and four others and "to show us how to do it" led members of his hippie-type clan on a random search for more victims the next night, Linda Kasabian says.

In her third day on the stand in the trial of Manson and three women followers, Mrs. Kasabian related Wednesday that the communal "family" chieftain followed an erratic course through the Los Angeles area last Aug. 10, stopping at six different places—including a church—before he found the victims.

The state says the journey ended in the slayings of Leno and Rosemary LaBianca, wealthy market owners.

Mrs. Kasabian said she drove part of the time, with Manson directing.

First, she said, they went from their commune at the Spain movie ranch to Pasadena. She said she stopped the car in front of a house and Manson got out, peered in the windows and returned to the car.

"Charlie told us that when he walked up to the house and looked in the window he saw pictures of children on the wall and he couldn't go in, he couldn't do it," she said.

At another stop she said Manson declared "the houses are too close together."

A third stop was at a church where Mrs. Kasabian said Manson announced that "he was going in to find the minister or priest or whoever was in there."

"He came back to the car and said the doors were locked," she continued.

She said the group at Manson's directions drove through what she called "a maze" in the Hollywood hills, then headed for the ocean where they approached a hilltop house only to be stopped by a chain fence at the gate.

Suddenly, she said, Manson began directing her back through Los Angeles and "he seemed to know where he was going." She said they wound up at the home of an acquaintance of Mrs. Kasabian and she asked Manson: "Charlie, you're not going to that house, are you?"

"He said no, I'm going next door," Mrs. Kasabian testified.

The home next door, the state says, belonged to the LaBiancas.

Manson, she said, left the car and returned minutes later. "I heard him say there were a man and a woman up at the house and that he had told them not to be afraid, that he wasn't going to hurt them."

South had no trouble counting to eight tricks but his partner had put him in game and, somehow or other, he had to find a way to get nine.

There was no chance for a fourth trick in spades. Whichever opponent held four spades wasn't going to throw one away. Hearts were even more hopeless. He didn't have time to set up dummy's fourth heart.

A defeatist would have run his top cards and settled for one down but South was a firm believer in giving the cards and his opponents every chance to help him.

That meant he had to get East and West to play clubs for him. The Statue of Liberty play was indicated and South led a low heart to his 10 at trick two.

West was in with the queen and went into an executive session. What did South have for his bid? Nothing in spades. Surely the king of hearts and something in clubs. Perhaps the ace. Probably just four diamonds, all of which would wind up as tricks.

West decided that it was up to him to start the club suit, since otherwise South would have time to set up a heart trick.

By that time, West had thought himself into the losing line of play. He led the three of clubs. East rose with the ace and led the suit back. East knew that South didn't hold the king of hearts but was sure that he held the ace and jack.

West was in with the king and could have saved the day by playing hearts, but West was still acting under the wrong idea. He led another club and South had his nine tricks.

ANNIVERSARY SALE

Way back in 1883, on a street facing the Ohio River in Cincinnati, a little grocery store opened its doors. That was Kroger's modest beginning. A few steps from the front door was a level buzzing with activity. Flirted packed loaders and line out the door. The store was a place where people came to get their groceries and to see the man who was the first to sell groceries by the dollar.

Today, as Kroger celebrates its 87th Anniversary with a "Showboat of Savings," you'll find sale prices as nostalgic as the showboat atmosphere itself. Play for Value Games.

Mercury Pollution is Probed

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators probing the geographical scope of mercury pollution have been told remote region of American are contaminated by the poisonous residues.

"We may now be experiencing the greatest environmental crisis in our history," said Sen.
Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., chairman of a Senate environmental subcommittee.

The deadly mercury compounds even have been discovered in Vermont's Silver Lake, an isolated body of water located atop a mountain and accessible only by foot or four-wheel drive vehicle, the panel was told Wednesday.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., said the lake located deep in a national forest "has no industry whatever. But it does have mercury contamination."

Vermont is not heavily industrialized, has none of the chemical plants usually identified as prime polluters and uses almost no mercury-based agricultural compounds, Prouty said.

Prouty said 20 states have mercury pollution problems in fish and water resources. The mercury residues remain in the environment for up to 100 years after dumping, he added.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader contended "the forces of industrial irresponsibility and official paralysis continued unabated" despite early warnings from abroad and by environmental experts.

"The 'discovery' of this mercury epidemic may be for environmentalists what thalidomide was to advocates of control over drug company abuses in the early '60s," he added. "That is, mercury may generate genuine concern and artificial remedies for the larger problem of environmental violence of which it is a part."

Dr. Albert J. Fritsch, technical consultant to Nader, called for an immediate ban on mercury compounds used as fungicides. He also proposed licensing mercury uses and imposing stiff penalties on direct emission of mercury into the environment.

The United States has consumed 163 million pounds of mercury during this century, he added, and "we doubt if more than a quarter of this can be presently accounted for."

"If only half of this expended mercury is distributed uniformly and allowed to become soluble," he said, "our entire fish and water supply would be contaminated beyond human consumption."

Asks HEW to 'Call Off Your Dogs'

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)— Harris F. Mitchell, president of the Watson Chapel School Board, has sent a letter to Elliott L. Richardson, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, stating that school desegregation should be judged by educational standards rather than on the basis of racial balance.

Mitchell told Richardson in the letter to "call off your dogs" who are trying to bring desegregation to the district.

Watson Chapel is one of nine districts in Arkansas named in a desegregation suit filed in U.
S. District Court at Little Rock
by the Justice Department.

Mitchell said that HEW would file its own desegregation plan for Watson Chapel and four of the other districts named in the suit that have not filed acceptable plans.

Find Nursing Homes 'Amaz- ingly Good'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen.
Dorothy M. Allen of Brinkley and Rep. Bernice Kizer of Fort Smith say the 25 nursing homes they investigated in Central and North Arkansas "are amazingly good."

The two legislators make up one of five teams assigned to investigate nursing homes in 15 counties. They were the first of the teams to submit their report to the Legislative Council.

The report said: "At no place we visited was any dirt or filth evident; in fact, quite to the contrary, the supply areas, the bathrooms, toilets, laundries were all clean, tidy and free

Rules Party Can't Expand

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Democratic Committee, by a vote of 64-4, held Wednesday that the expansion of the size of the Pulaski County Democratic Committee was a violation of party rules.

The county committee had voted July 21 to expand so that all 559 candidates for the committee would be assured of positions.

The state committee ordered the election of county committeemen in the Aug. 25 primary on the basis of the 271 positions authorized prior to July 21. Of the 271 positions, 255 are contested.

The state committee ordered that ballot positions be immediately determined and that ballots be prepared before the midnight Saturday deadline set by law.

Luke Moorman, county chairman who had suggested the expansion, said after Wednesday's ruling that he would consult with his attorney before stating what course of action he would take.

Mrs. Phyllis Brandon of Little Rock, identified as a member of the liberal faction of the county committee, had appealed the enlargement to the state committee.

The fight over the expansion has been called a battle between liberal and conservative factions in the county.

At issue was whether the county committee had the authority to expand within 112 days of the Aug. 25 primary.
Mrs. Brandon said party rules clearly prohibited it. Moorman contended that the party rules did not deny this right and gave the county committee the authority to determine its membership in the absence of action by the county convention.

At Wednesday's meeting,
Hardy Croxton of Rogers, acting as party counsel, notified the state committee that he found the enlargement in violation of the rules. He said the rules give county committees the right to determine the "status" of their memberships, but not to set the number of committee positions within the 112-day period before the primary.

Ted Boswell of Bryant, an attorney for Mrs. Brandon, argued that Moorman was trying to pack the county committee to maintain his control.

He said the Pulaski County party organization had "refused to purge itself of dictatorial and underhanded domination by a few who know they cannot win at the polls and must resort to committee packing to maintain their control."

The state committee defeated a motion by Bob Gibson of Jonesboro, president of the Young Democrats, that the hearing be held without newsmen present.

from odors. There appeared ample linen and cleaning supplies to provide for patients and the patients were properly and more than adequately cared for,
from all standpoints of health,
comfort and convenience."

Sen. Virgil Fletcher of Benton asked for a survey of conditions in nursing homes after Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said the nursing home industry had become infiltrated by "fast-buck entrepreneurs."

E. Arkansas Claims Short Census Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., said today that an investigation he recently conducted has convinced him that there was "a considerable number" of people in Northeast Arkansas who were not counted in the 1970 census.

Alexander released a 6,000-word report that said: "The methods used by the Census Bureau in Northeast Arkansas were questionable and prone to error, considering local attitudes, educational and economic background."

He pointed out that the 1st Congressional District of Arkansas was one of only five nonurban districts in the nation in which a door-to-door census was not taken.

"A major effort by the Census Bureau to determine the validity of the count in the 1st Congressional District of Arkansas is more than warranted," Alexander concluded in the report.
